

Help us out...

Staff Advisory Council's Training and Development Committee is collecting recipes for our fund raising cookbook

In Case You're Cooking

to support the

Staff Educational Enhancement Fund

The Staff Educational Enhancement Fund is available to all staff members at Case Western Reserve University. This fund was established as a result of proceeds from the Gala Ball held in March, 2007. Funds can be used for educational and professional development not available under regular university benefits.

Simply gather your favorite recipes (no more than three per person) and go to gandrpublishing.com. Enter your username sac and password seef in the upper right corner, click the add recipe button and type your recipe(s) into the drop down category of your choice. Proof for accuracy and submit. It's as easy as that. The deadline to submit recipes is June 15, 2008. Your name will appear in the cookbook and you will have an opportunity to purchase one at the Benefits Fair in November.

Help us out by submitting your recipes.
