When was your last paid research leave? (Give dates) _____
(For purposes of this application, a paid research leave is considered to be a fellowship or grant [any amount] which effectively released you from all teaching responsibilities for one semester or more. Sabbatical leaves do not count as research leaves in this case.)

In addition to this cover sheet, complete applications must include:

1) A proposal (max. 5 pages, double-spaced, 12-pint font, 1-inch margins) that answers the following questions: (a) What is your project? (b) How does your project related to the theme, “Information”? (Feel free to add or expand on the Center’s general explication of this theme.) (c) How would your participation in the seminar serve your larger research project? Be as explicit as possible about how your project relates to the humanities. (d) How would the supported leave time serve your larger research project? The proposal also must include a statement of commitment to full participation in the Seminar, including willingness to share work in progress with the other seminarian and willingness to advise the Center on plans for Humanities Week in the spring.

2) A short bibliography (max. 1 page) of works relevant to your project.

3) A curriculum vitae.

4) A completed CAS Request for Leave form, signed by the applicant’s department chair.

5) A letter from the applicant’s department chair indicating agreement to release the applicant from teaching during the fall of 2006 (replacement funds to be provided by the Baker-Nord Center. The letter should indicate the name of the instructor teaching the replacement courses for the Fellow and a brief statement regarding the chair’s support for the Fellow’s project.
