

Mathematics Essay Contest

Mathematics is different things to different people and in different contexts. The Department of Mathematics at Case Western Reserve University is sponsoring an essay contest on Mathematics: language, science, art or tool?

This contest is open to all College Undergraduates. Winners will receive a prize and their essays will be posted in the web page of the Department of Mathematics at CWRU. Essays, which should not exceed 1500 words in total, should be submitted electronically in pdf format to

MathEssay@case.edu

by December 19, 2008.

Winners will receive a prize and their essay will be posted in the web page of the Department of Mathematics.

Imaging Mathematics Contest

Is an image worth 1000 numbers? Send us your original digitized image of Mathematics to

MathImage@case.edu

by December 19, 2008.

Winners will receive a prize and their image will be posted in the web page of the Department of Mathematics.