

Brownfield (Geauga County)

Judith Sheridan

Following the official designation of Trumbull County in July of 1800, settlers began to find their way in ever increasing numbers to the Western Reserve. Among these were the E. Brown, Jr. family of Westmoreland, NH, whose home "Brownwood" in N. Bloomfield, OH is still a landmark. Other families who left a written record of their journey to northeastern Ohio via small edition family histories will include the Hurd family of Southington, OH, the Meacham and Cone families of Gustavus & Hartford, OH and the family of Deacon Lovel Parker who emigrated from Barkhamsted, CT to Kinsman, OH. Reference will also be made to the Harriet Taylor Upton History of Trumbull and Mahoning Counties and the Pioneer and General History of Geauga County.
