
VMware

A variety of VMware software is available as a free download to all CWRU students, faculty and staff including VMware Workstation, Fusion and Player. VM Player has a perpetual license and enables you to quickly and easily create and run virtual machines. VMware Workstation and VMware Fusion come with a 365-day license from the date of activation. There is a limit of (1) license per CWRU email network ID.

If you have an existing VMware product from the Software Center that is about to expire, or if you would like a new license to a VMware product, please click on the VMware Products link on the Software Center menu. Clicking on the product download link will take you to a storefront website where you may order and download the products for free. If this is your first time using the VMware storefront, please make sure to select "Register" for an account when checking out to receive your product.

The VMware Storefront replaces the previous method of VMware product distribution, where products were downloaded directly from the Software Center.

To download VMware software, go to <http://softwarecenter.case.edu> and click on the VMware Products listing. When the VMware download link is clicked, you will be asked to log in to the eAcademy Webstore. Please use your CWRU Network ID and password. Upon successful login, you will be automatically taken to the eAcademy Webstore where you may select your VMware products.
