TUESDAY, MARCH 24, 2009 • 7:00 PM – 9:00 PM

“The Risk of Fading Memories: Why the Holocaust Must Remain Relevant Today”

Rev. Dennis D. McManus

With

Rabbi Joshua Skoff

Consultant to the Secretariat for Ecumenical and Interreligious Affairs,
U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops;
Assistant Director of the Intercultural Forum,
Pope John Paul II Cultural Center

Senior Rabbi
Leighton A. Rosenthal Chair in Rabbinics
The Park Synagogue

Father McManus and Rabbi Skoff will explore whether society, and especially the non-Jewish faith-based community, is beginning to forget the lessons of the Holocaust and the risk that presents to current and future generations. An open dialogue with the audience will follow the speaker presentations.
