

SAB Meeting on 23 November 2004

Notes: This was a short meeting with a low attendance. Most of the discussion was on topics to be considered for the spring semester.

Peer Writing Crew - Libby Moore and Nicole Sharp report that it is used by many students. The program is likely to expand next year.

Senior SAGES students - Last year, it had been suggested that SAGES seniors may be used to help conduct seminars. This would allow a professor to run two classes, alternating between the two. The SAB would like to look into the possibility of this being done next year.

SAB in Full Implementation - What role will the SAB play after full implementation and how will funding be handled? These are questions to be discussed in the spring.

Capstone Project - There are still several questions on the capstone project. It was decided that Lee Thompson would come to a meeting early in the spring to discuss the project.

As a final note, it was mentioned that Peter Whiting will be in charge of SAGES at the end of June.
